

PRESS RELEASE

Price Sensitive Communication

25 March 2021 - London. Aleph Finance Group Plc. ("Aleph" or the "Company") (Euronext MLALE : FP) announces that today 25 March 2021, Mr. Enrico Danieletto, Chief Executive Officer ("CEO") and controlling shareholder of the Company, has announced his decision, due to personal reasons, to step down as CEO and to resign from his role as director of Aleph effective immediately. Aleph also announces that Mr. Danieletto will step down as CEO of Pairstech Capital Management LLP ("Pairstech"), an investment firm regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority ("FCA") in which the Company holds a controlling equity interest, pending the FCA's regulatory approval.

Mr. Danieletto considers his job at Aleph completed after the recent successful listing of the Company on the Euronext, with a new management in charge of leading the Company on a growth path and through the consolidation phase currently characterizing the industry.

Mr. Danieletto has been a key player in establishing the Company as a leading pan-European financial boutique, following a successful career in the fund management industry.

Andrea Sprizzi, who is currently Aleph's and Pairstech's Chief Financial Officer, will be appointed as the new Aleph's CEO.

No compensation or other exit bonus package has been part of resignation agreements and arrangement with Mr. Danieletto, who in his capacity as founder and controlling shareholder, will keep supporting the Company in an advisory role, leveraging upon his financial industry knowledge and vast network of relationships.
